

Leave XM alone they aren't hurting anybody's right to broadcast. In rural West Texas radio is at a premium, you either listen to whip your cow (country) music or you turn the radio off. It's nice to have variety from which to choose and after all, I am paying for what I want to listen to, not like free off the air "listen to us or turn it off" broadcasting.